For SKIN and HAIR are the result of years of experiment and study by me.

"The fact that I am a graduate in Medicine and Dentistry is a GUARANTEE that the best drugs, properly combined, are used in my preparations."

In less than a year on the market these goods have followed this Express and into thousands of homes and made good.

THE CREAM positively BLEACHES; removes every blemish, holds any powder perfectly all day and keeps the skin soft and tender as a spring violet.

Hair ruined by nature or harmful preparations responds readily to my GLOVER. The PRESERVING OIL gives a fine gloss and is nearly smokeless.

Use these preparations and you will catch the eye.

CHICAGO TO USE BOYCOTT TO BAR NEGROES.

Chicago, Ill., July 21.—To prevent Negroes from moving to Marquette city owners took action recently. Every block between Fifth and Seventy-first sts. and from Robey street to the city limit on the west, it was decided, would have a "chain" of a property owner, who will supervise the sale, lease or transfer of each piece of real estate in his block. A social and commercial boycott will be used as the weapon behind him.

The meeting was called at the instance of the Southwest Business Men's Association and was held in the Marquette Park State Bank. John R. Walsh, head of the organization, and William B. Metzger, president of the bank, presided jointly. M. E. Doran, local publisher, was one of the speakers.

Attention was called to the rumor that a house in the vicinity of Sixty-second street and Spaulding avenue had recently been acquired by Negroes. Doran said the transfer had been made in such a manner that the ownership could not be identified. A white family has retained possession.

A committee of fourteen was appointed to pick the captain.

a window and climbed on the top of the sleeper. I do not know how I made it, but by the time I got on top the sleeper began to move. The sound on account of the track being underrun.

"I jumped from the top of the sleeper to the coach. By the time I had reached the smoker the smoker's roof had turned over. I was on the side of the smoker and caught a piece of scalding water. The water broke the windows and the passengers climbed out of the windows. The car was now on fire.

"There was a lumber yard near by and a large amount of lumber was floating by, when the passengers seized. They were carried over on it to a brick building which was formerly a brewery. The train was now on the second floor there reached out of their windows and assisted the passengers to safety.

All Passengers Saved.

"There were 27 of us in all. The brakeman, news agent and porter were the only employees included in the 27. No Pullman or other passenger was lost. There was one child in the coach who had two children and carried one of the children out. The passengers were all safe and unharmed, being cut when climbing through the broken windows. They would all have lost their lives if it had not been for the lumber that was carried down next to the train. It was reported the train conductor and engineer were drowned, but the firemen escaped in some way. I do not believe there were any deaths on the train, but it was claimed by some of the others that all had not been saved. If that was true, it was because they jumped into the water before the train turned over.

Conductor's Body Found.

"Conductor Cowan's body was found in the sleeper the following morning. It was reported his name was Evans, but I do not know. The Red Cross was not notified. Evans, who was a native of Missouri Pacific and I identified Cowan at the morgue. I sustained a bruised right leg and was struck on the back of the head by something, and it is bruised slightly."

Taylor reported the loss of clothing and other articles belonging to him valued at $10. The Red Cross gave him a pair of overalls and a pair of shoes and a pair of socks and fed him for four days. He went to Kansas City, arriving July 19. He has no funds, but depended on fellow porters to get him food. He got home June 12.

Office found, after the water subsided, the Conductor Cowan had partially drowned and was evidently trying to follow the porter's example of going through the window of the sleeper.

SUMMER SCHOOL NOTES.

140 Marks The Enrollment. A Statement Touching The Ability Of The Faculty. The Requirement Being Met And The Pledge For The $400.00 or More Is Being Redeemed.

The requirement of the General Board of Education is being met slowly but surely, and to do this has required both time, patient and labor. In order to have the Summer school located in the City of Dallas, $400.00 had to be pledged in advance, and the pledge is almost redeemed except one of the provisions that $400.00 or more should be raised out side of the tuition in order that none except first class instructors should be employed. This part of the provision has been complied with and the teachers are ready for their pay.

Prof. L. B. Ross, a post graduate of the University of Chicago, and of two other colleges, has been employed and he is a teacher of class A, and holds up his reputation as a man of letters. Our own J. W. Wilson, the dean of Mathematics in the Colored high school, is also the dean of Mathematics in the Summer School, and sustains the name of Fisk University as a worthy alumnus. Then too, Prof. E. Goldwaite comes from Lincoln University, an institution that ranks first among the schools of high grades, is charge of the science department of the Summer school.

Miss E. F. G. Merritt is in charge of the Method-System Department and it goes without saying that her ability is known throughout the entire country as an educator, having held the position in the city schools of Washington for twenty-two years, and also as trainer of teachers at Cheney, Penn., for fourteen summers where many teachers attended from many states during their summer vacation.

Miss Dixie Applewhite, the instructor and demonstrator of Home Economics, is from the famous Tuskegee Institute, has accomplished a good work preparing the teachers who wish to impart this information to their pupils next fall in the rural districts.

Mrs. Wilson and Miss Eva Weems have been in charge of the primary and high school subjects in the children department together with Miss Merritt, who has handled the tota of the low primary as well as the third and fourth grade instruction as an observation class. Principal N. W. Harlee handled the Educational subjects.

Altogether, the Summer School which will close during the next two weeks has been a remarkable school in many respects, both for the work accomplished and for the large enrollment, which is about 140 all told, in which Spanish, Latin, English, Methods, Educational subjects were taught by specialists.

The normal concert will take place at the Bethel A. M. E. church, on Friday evening the 29th when Professor L. Browne Ross, the celebrated pianist, dramatist will both play and read to the delight of the many persons who love music. Miss E. F. G. Merritt, the celebrated Method teacher will lecture on "Education as a Means to an End." Professor Ross will be assisted by local talent.

ATTEMPT TO GAIN FREEDOM ENDS IN DEATH SENTENCE.

Waycross, Ga., July 21.—Another echo of the peonage system as employed in the South was heard here, when Julius King, alleged to have been held in virtual slavery by his white owner for years, in an attempt to escape, placed poison in his employer's food, which resulted in his death.

King was convicted by Judge R. G. Dickerson and sentenced to be hanged. His plea was based upon the fact that owing to such cruel treatment at the hands of his employer, he had been driven to the foot of the gallows, on the night in question, he placed some poison in his food, with the sole idea of making him sick. The drug killed him.

COTTON POOL HAS BROKEN RECORDS.

Dallas, Texas, July 21.—The biggest cooperative marketing organization of growers in the world is being completed at the Dallas offices of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. More than six hundred thousand bales of cotton from approximately 40,000 Texas members have been put in one pool to be disposed of through a sales agency set up by what is known as the American Cotton Growers Exchange, Oklahoma has signed up over 400,000 bales to go into the same pool and Mississippi is contributing 210,000 bales and Arizona is also in. The total already promised for the pool is more than one and a quarter million bales. Texas cotton farmers are still signing contracts and it is expected that this state will ultimately contribute more than a million bales to the pool.

Every grower contributing to the pool has agreed to deliver all of the cotton that he produces for the next five years to the association which is composed of growers and farmers are still signing contracts and it is expected that this state will ultimately contribute more than a million bales to the pool.
